

IT Program Names Descriptions

Programming and Software Development Pathway:

Programming

The Programming State Program Area prepares students to create and modify programs using various programming languages. Students will test the program code, forms, and script that allow computer applications to run and develop solutions. They will analyze user needs for developing software solutions.