

Education & Training Cluster

Teaching/Training Pathway – This pathway leads to employment in such areas as: paraprofessional, elementary, secondary or post-secondary teaching positions.

Teaching/Training – Students in this major will explore the teaching profession and related occupations. They will learn about the roles and responsibilities of education professionals. Students will also learn about the education requirements for educators. In addition, students will learn about child development, including the necessary skills to promote children's development, child health and nutrition, and meeting the needs of special age groups. The history of education, including current practices and the use of technology in the classroom will also be included in this major. Students will have an opportunity for a "teaching like" experience.
