

My name is Jayden Batcheller, I'm a senior at Yukon High School and a second-year student in the Health Careers program at Canadian Valley Technology Center at the Cowan Campus. I would consider myself a very loving and hardworking person. I have always had this type of fire inside of me that has just continued to push me to be the best person I can be and the best leader around. A little more about myself would be that I have two siblings. An older brother and an older sister. Being the youngest in my family has been an inspiration. Being able to watch and follow in their footsteps and see how things are done, to better improve myself and help improve others around me.

I'm running for HOSA state office because HOSA an opportunity to see things differently. HOSA is not just another club you join in highschool, HOSA is a commitment for the greater good of humanity. Every member I've met in HOSA has had a passion, love, and care for those around them. There is no group better than the people I've met in HOSA. HOSA has been a very humbling experience. The opportunities given within HOSA have been life-changing. HOSA is an amazing opportunity and running for state office is not one I intend to pass upon.

One major thing I have to offer HOSA is my personality. I'm a very unique person. My spunk, drive, determination, honesty, integrity, loyalty, open-mindedness, and my never-ending flame all make me who I am today. Unique. Being unique is not just being different but choosing to live differently than those around you. Choosing to help those in need. Not only do I bring out the best in myself but I help bring out the best in those around me.

A few reasons I know I would make an outstanding HOSA State Officer is because of my past in leadership, that has lead me to this opportunity in HOSA. Being a leader my entire life has taught me how to work constructively, diligently and use consensus to ensure that everyone around me is happy. I would consider myself to have a heart and soul to serve other people. My flame inside of me feeds off of helping others. A leader is not something that is taught but something someone is born with. Leadership is a flame inside of someone when they're born.
